DEVELOPING A RELATIONSHIP FOR SUCCESS

Sheridan Metal Resources is more than just tools. It's 40-plus years of knowledge and field experience that allows them to help you put the right tools to use — the right way. Start your growing business with metal roofing by gaining valuable hands-on experience with a seasoned professional and the confidence to put your knowledge to work. Owner John Sheridan's philosophy is to bring more people into metal business by developing a training program that is inclusive, demystifies the field, introduces good tools and teaches good habits.

SET UP YOUR INSTALLATION FOR SUCCESS

Metal roofing installations can vary greatly depending on a myriad of factors. Having the guidance of installation training from Sheridan and his team ensures you're starting off on the right foot. Sheridan Metal Resources offers several levels of hands-on training tailored to your needs, from introductory to supplemental to more hands-on and advanced options.

During one- to two-day introductory training sessions, build your knowledge base and gain an understanding of the products associated with metal roof installation. With a presentation, Q&A and product education, Sheridan Metal Resources makes sure you have the resources you need. The training also introduces contractors to the good-better-best system. Even if your business currently provides training, Sheridan Metal Resources offers additional advanced training to supplement your team's knowledge.

Choosing the more Intense training provides added hands-on value. Get up to speed technically and increase competency in installing the system. Sheridan and his team have all been or are currently contractors, providing field knowledge and a higher level of experience with the tools and systems.
